The Seascape Glazed Collection:

Lets you take a trip to the Hamptons

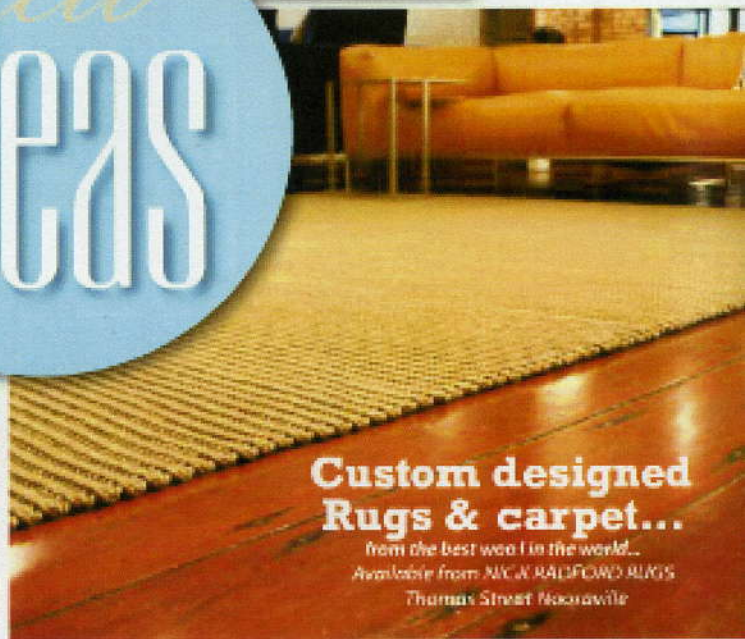

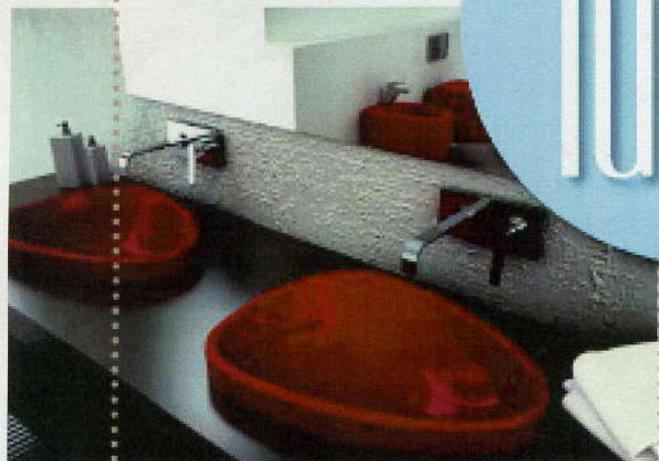

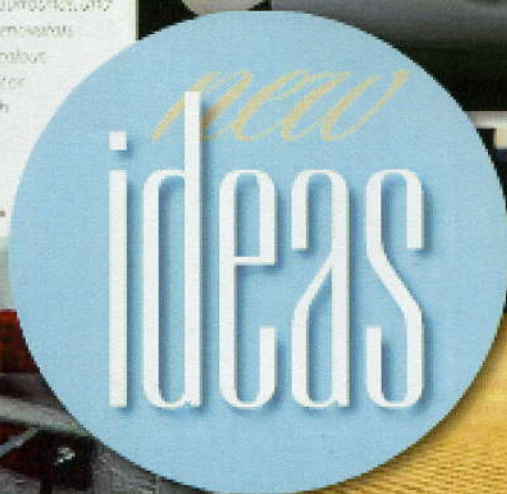

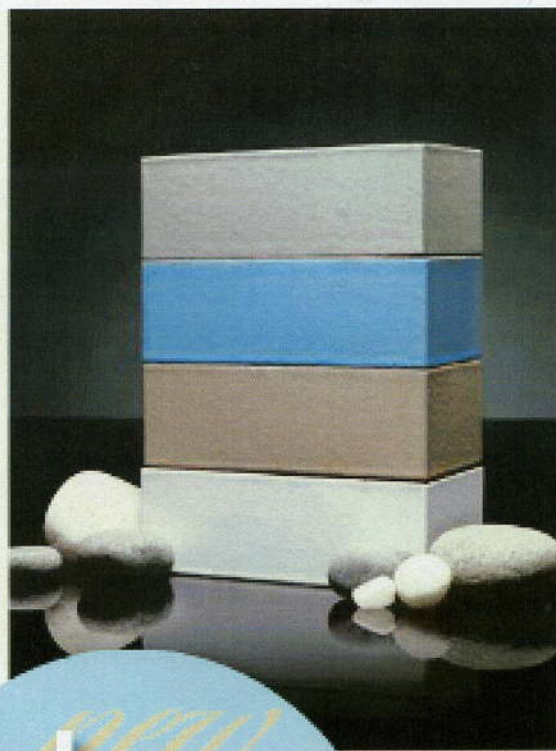

The new Seascape glazed collection of soft, silky colours from Pugh Brick & Favers is bang on trend for the Hamptons look, a style which is defined by casual relaxed lines and understated sophistication.

Central to Hamptons style is not a life based on scenery, but rather about a feeling or attitude how we wish to live our life. It's about a relaxed grace. The Hamptons style comes from New York's famous Hamptons region of Long Island and is highlighted by a fresh and breezy look and feel, which is perfect for the Australian indoor-outdoor lifestyle.

Designed in partnership with leading trend colourists to reflect the tranquillity of the ocean and its surrounds, and encourages architects, designers, home renovators and builders to experiment with colour, personalise the look of their design project or home and most importantly have fun with the colours.

Love at first sight...

Etna from Peco Jansson

The team at Peco Jansson can often be found pouring the glass for new products, trends and innovations in bath ware in order to bring the latest cutting edge products into the bathrooms of Australia. The latest collection to be introduced to their extensive catalogue is the incredibly chic Etna range of ceramic ware and bathroom furniture from Italian ceramicy, Gatch.

The bathroom is increasingly being conceived as the hidden sanctuary, the only truly private space within the home, where you can retreat to reflect and relax free from the distraction of external stimulus, the bathroom is able to become an evocative and personal space.

The bathroom as an evocative space was the key design principle for Peco Jansson & Moran, the UK based Italian designers behind the Etna range, who conceived of the collection making people fall in love at first sight – inducing emotion from a collection whose beauty lies in a harmonious contrast of curves and smooth, clean lines.

Available nationally through stockists - for more styles and information visit www.pecojansson.com.au

Show off your cocktail mixology skills...

Be the host with the most! This party season and keep your guests smiling all summer long with the new Russell Hazza Cocktail Blender. Whether you're into cocktails or something a little more drinkable, you can wow your friends as you whip up your own exotic flavours or create the perfect party beverage.

Offering a stylish design, 1.7L plastic jug and easy pour cap, you will be the belle of the ball at your own party. $49.95 only.

Rexa - it's naturally Italian

For a more discerning and sophisticated Italian bathroom design, an internationally acclaimed Rexa property complements the sophisticated style of its bathroom. The design encompasses the essence of quality with impeccable taste, surrounded by nature. Rexa uses influences of the most innovative form, nature. Embodying its design aspirations is Monica Crocetti's Rexa Collection.

Carefully designed to describe a nest, the Rexa laundry basket also provides storage and hanging facilities, proving to be not only aesthetically charming yet innovatively practical. Equally as distinguished, the Rexa Resisting Bath coupled with the Rexa sink bath shed brings function to form, effortlessly combining luxury, elegance and comfort. Feathering your nest...

Have you ever needed the services of a housemaid while on holiday?

Or wanted your property to pass the 'white glove test' when you or your guests arrive for your vacation?

At Nest Holidays they offer a full maintenance service for your property, that adds value and maximises potential. Your property will present at its best - or all times with maintenance carried out by professional gardeners and lawn mowers, pool sparkling clean and ready for you to swim in on arrival.

Property owners can arrive to the welcome of beautiful flowers, that people already filled in the fridge, party stocked dietary needs met - all with just one phone call. And if you don't want to cook they can even arrange catering for an intimate dinner party or a picnic basket filled with local produce for outdoors.

The region's Festival House visits can also be arranged for remedial massage therapies, Tai Chi, Meditation or personal trainers.

As local, this holiday agency has all the local knowledge and their staff are on the spot for any further requests. Even if there are severe weather conditions and you are thousands of kilometres away, you can depend on them to take charge, offering you complete peace of mind.

Their specialist team eliminate the stress of self-management from key holding to the personal meeting and greeting of guests. And after finalising your guests with the important aspects of the property, even though the Nest member may leave, more will be contactable made available for any emergency or problems that may arise 7 days a week.
